

From: Michael Horrocks
To: 'microsoft.atr(a)usdoj.gov'
Date: 12/7/01 9:37am
Subject: Microsoft

I thought we lived in America where you were free to run a business. Don't punish a company because they developed a software package that EVERYONE wants and is good enough to drive the competition out of business. Instead of punishing Microsoft, the government should be encouraging other companies to develop software that will rival Microsoft.

Free enterprise means just what it says. If you end up being the only company out there selling what the people want and need, so be it. If you are so up in arms about this, then do something about it like develop software that will rival Microsoft or just keep your mouth shut.

If this keeps up, we will be punishing the new inventory of "IT" stating that because no one else out there has a product like it, they are monopolistic.

I was pretty sure when I woke up this morning that I was still living in America.

MICHAEL HORROCKS, CNE5, CNA, CCA
Director of MIS Operations
Amscot Corporation
TEL: 813-932-4339 x209
CELL: 813-601-3369